MARK WALLINGTON
(Leicester)

YOUNGSTERS hold the key for Spurs in the Final. Stars like Hoddle and Ardiles are used to playing in big matches so I reckon it's the performances of younger players like Graham Roberts, Chris Hughton and Garry Brooke who could decide it. If they don't get over-awed by the big occasion I can see Spurs winning an exciting final.

PREDICTION: Spurs 2, Man. City 1.

SPURS for the Cup! That's the message from the rest of the First Division.

But it's going to be close . . .

On the ball as usual, Match Weekly's team of reporters has been ringing round the country to get the views of one

SPURS 12

GARRY THOMPSON (Coventry)

SPURS destroyed us when we played them in the Cup. Everything seems to have gone well for them this year and although I think it will be close, I fancy them to win.

PREDICTION: Spurs 2, Man. City 1.

KEVIN DILLON (Birmingham)

TOTTENHAM have the strength up front and in midfield to really turn it on for the big occasion.

PREDICTION: Spurs 2, Man City 1

ALAN DODD (Stoke)

SPURS are tailor-made for Wembley. I reckon they'll win by a two goal margin. Although City are more of a team, Spurs have the individuals who could swing it.

PREDICTION: Man City 1, Spurs 3

RAY KENNEDY (Liverpool)

I think that Tottenham's flair and skill will overcome Manchester City's heart on the day. I expect Ossie Ardiles to be a major influence along with Glenn Hoddle and Steve Perryman.

PREDICTION: Spurs 2, City 0

PERRY DIGWEED (Brighton)

MANCHESTER City didn't impress me when we drew 1-1 earlier this season, so I'm going for Spurs to lift the Cup.

The goals could come from anywhere — Garth Crooks and Steve Archibald have formed a useful partnership and Glenn Hoddle's always capable of popping up with one.

PREDICTION: Man City 1, Spurs 2

JOHN RICHARDS (Wolves)

I'M taking Manchester City and that's not because Tottenham beat us in the semi-finals.

Tottenham played excellently against us in the replay, but I think City have too much power in midfield for them.

PREDICTION: Man City 2, Spurs 1

JOHN MCDOWELL (right) (Norwich)

I WOULD like to see Tottenham win and I think they will — they play some great football. The big factor will be if City can stifle the Spurs midfield.

PREDICTION: Spurs 2, Man. City 1.

ALAN BROWN (Sunderland)

I EXPECT it to be a great final with plenty of goals, Spurs playing one and two-touch football on the ground, City, motivated by Gow, grafting for an opening. Spurs have got five or six capable of scoring, but I take City to win it after a replay.

PREDICTION: Man City 2, Spurs 2 (City to win replay) player from each club in the top flight.

And while City have their supporters like Nick Holmes of Southampton, Paul Mariner of Ipswich and even Arthur Albiston of rivals Manchester United, the majority are predicting a right old Cockney knees up at Wembley on Saturday.

How did your club's chosen player vote? The answer is here . . .

JOHN HOLLINS (Arsenal)

TOTTENHAM have been scoring regularly from the striking and midfield areas in all competitions and I think they will lift the trophy.

PREDICTION: Spurs 2, Man City 1

CYRILLE REGIS (WBA)

I LOOK at Spurs strikers Steve Archibald and Garth Crooks and the 40-odd goals they've scored between them this season and I have to go for the Londoners.

PREDICTION: Spurs 2, Man City 0

PAUL MARINER (Ipswich)

I'M going for City and not just because they defeated us in the semi-final.

I have rather divided loyalties because Tottenham goalkeeper Milija Aleksic is my best mate.

But I also have a high regard for City manager John Bond who is a very shrewd tactician.

They are a well disciplined and balanced side with a little bit of flair and in Paul Power they have one of the most under-rated players in the country.

PREDICTION: Man. City 3, Spurs 1.

PETER EASTOE (Everton)

THE side with the better organised defence will lift the FA Cup — so I'm going for a City win at Wembley.

Spurs are not too clever at the back and I reckon that fact could swing it. Both teams like to go forward so I'm looking forward to an open, attacking game.

Each side has forwards who can score against the best in the land — that's why the defences will play such an important role.

PREDICTION: Man. City 2, Spurs 1.

CITY 8 As the stars see it!

BRIAN GREENHOFF (Leeds)

IT'S going to be close, but Tottenham have plenty of match winners and providing they don't freeze on the day, I think they will have the edge.

PREDICTION: Spurs 3, Man City 2

KENNY SWAIN (Aston Villa)

THEY are two very evenly matched sides, but I think if Tottenham really want to win it on the day they will.

PREDICTION: Spurs 2, Man City 1

NICK HOLMES (Southampton)

THE longer the game goes on the better chance Manchester City may have. I like the way Spurs play, but I've got this feeling City can hold out.

PREDICTION: Man City 1, Spurs 0

DAVID ARMSTRONG (Middlesbrough)

I'VE got a feeling the Final will be a cracker between two sides with contrasting styles.

Tottenham have more flair with the likes of Ardiles and Hoddle, while Manchester City have the guts and grit.

But I'm taking City's more organised side to win the day with Gerry Gow and Paul Power combating Hoddle and Ardiles.

PREDICTION: Man. City 3, Spurs 1.

IAN WALLACE (Nott'm Forest)

I WOULD like to see Manchester City lift the trophy for the sake of a couple of old mates — Tommy Hutchison and Bobby McDonald.

Hutch has been in the game so long and he deserves to win something . . . but it's going to be difficult.

Spurs have the men up front in Archibald and Crooks, but if City can counteract those two and contain Hoddle in midfield they have a good chance.

PREDICTION: Man City 2, Spurs 1

ARTHUR ALBISTON (Man Utd)

OUR arch rivals City will win a five-goal thriller on Saturday.

I've got a feeling that this is City's year and they'll sneak it by the odd goal.

Hoddle and Ardiles will revel in the wide open spaces of Wembley, while for City Gerry Gow could be the big influence.

As for myself I'll be going to the wife's parents to watch the match — they're all City supporters!

PREDICTION: Man. City 3, Spurs 2.

Right: Manchester United's Arthur Albiston, who takes arch rivals City to win a thrilling final.

I nearly joined Ipswich, says JIMMY RIMMER as Villa are crowned...

ASTON VILLA'S 'keeper Jimmy Rimmer toasted his club's first League Championship for 71 years and revealed how he nearly signed for arch rivals Ipswich.

As Arsenal's famous marble halls echoed to the sound of popping champagne corks and Villa celebrations, Jimmy recalled how manager Ron Saunders had kept his four year old promise.

"He told me that he'd win something big for me — and you can't get much bigger than the First Division title," said Jimmy.

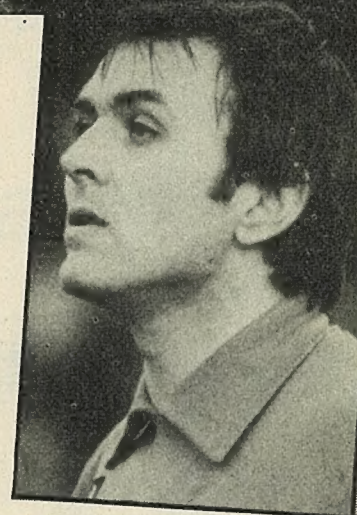

"Both Ipswich and Villa wanted to sign me from Arsenal at the beginning of the 1977-78 season, but Ron talked me into coming to Villa Park.

"He's proved that I was right to come here — I've got so much respect for the man."

Jimmy talked of the nerves which might have cost Villa the title on the last day of the season when they went down 2-0 at Arsenal.

"We were all frightened to make mistakes and I think nerves got to us all. But the championship is won over 42 games and we deserve our prize.

"This win means so much to me — I still can't believe it," he added.

Jimmy Rimmer — could have joined Villa's championship challengers Ipswich.

DENNIS MORTIMER (captain): "We thoroughly deserve the championship. We've won more matches this season than any other First Division club and that makes us champions of the toughest league in the world."

RON SAUNDERS (manager): "They are wonderful professionals. My players have sweated blood and they've put up with me. If I am as bad as people say they must be extraordinary people indeed."

'Best is yet to come'

THE MIDLANDERS are League champions and on the verge of even greater honours, believes their battering ram striker Peter Withe.

"The Championship is just the springboard — I reckon we could do another Nottingham Forest," he told me.

Peter, who collected a title medal with Forest in 1977-78, said: "Ron Saunders has assembled a hard working young side at Villa Park and this could be the start of something big.

"The championship is the hardest thing in the world to win and we've proved that we're good enough."

And Peter talked of his decision to join Villa after a season in the Second Division with Newcastle.

"Newcastle was out of the limelight and I was ambitious to win things — so it was imperative that I got back to the First Division when I did."

Peter's form this season has brought him 21 League goals and rocketed him into contention for an England place in the forthcoming Home International Championships.

"I'm just sorry we couldn't go out on a winning note against Arsenal, but the important thing is we've won the title."

●Because of technical difficulties part 18 of 'The Kenny Dalglish Story' has been held over until next week.

CHAMPIONS

Aston Villa may have lost 2-0 at Arsenal but the fans don't care . . . they're champions of Division One. Highbury erupted into a mass of claret and blue as the 20,000 travelling Villa supporters hailed the new title holders. Ipswich lost their chance when beaten 2-1 at Middlesbrough.

MATCH WEEKLY

WHEN I joined Manchester City I never even thought I'd be playing regular first team football... never mind play in an FA Cup Final!

But that's the stage it has now reached and at the risk of repeating myself it's like a fairy tale come true.

I honestly believed my chances of winning honours had gone.

When I arrived at Maine Road my aim was to help Manchester City out of relegation trouble.

Frankly, beyond that, my only other ambition was to play for as long as possible and make as much money as I could.

Any thoughts of a Wembley final were miles away... in fact, it never entered my dreams.

The furthest I've ever got in the FA Cup before is the quarter-finals. That was with Coventry eight years ago.

And the only thing that stands out in my memory about the 2-0 defeat at the hands of Wolves that year is that we played badly.

With the game being televised in so many different countries, a lot of people will be watching us play for the first time and it would be nice to give a good impression... and win a few more fans around the world.

Not that there's anything wrong with the supporters we have — they are fabulous.

I'll never forget my first game for City at Maine Road. We were bottom of the League and we still had a crowd of 29,000!

The lads in the team are as pleased for the fans as they are for anyone that we've made it to Wembley.

I remember Kevin Reeves saying after our semi-final victory over Ipswich that he couldn't believe we were in the final.

And I don't think it will really hit us until after the game... especially if we have won and we start thinking about the Charity Shield and Europe the next season.

On the strength of our last meeting with Spurs I think it should be a good game.

Although we lost 2-1 we played really well and I don't think the lads will harbour any fears.

It's difficult for any final to be open because there's so much at stake and I think our aim must be to do the same job as we did against Ipswich and close down the Spurs midfield.

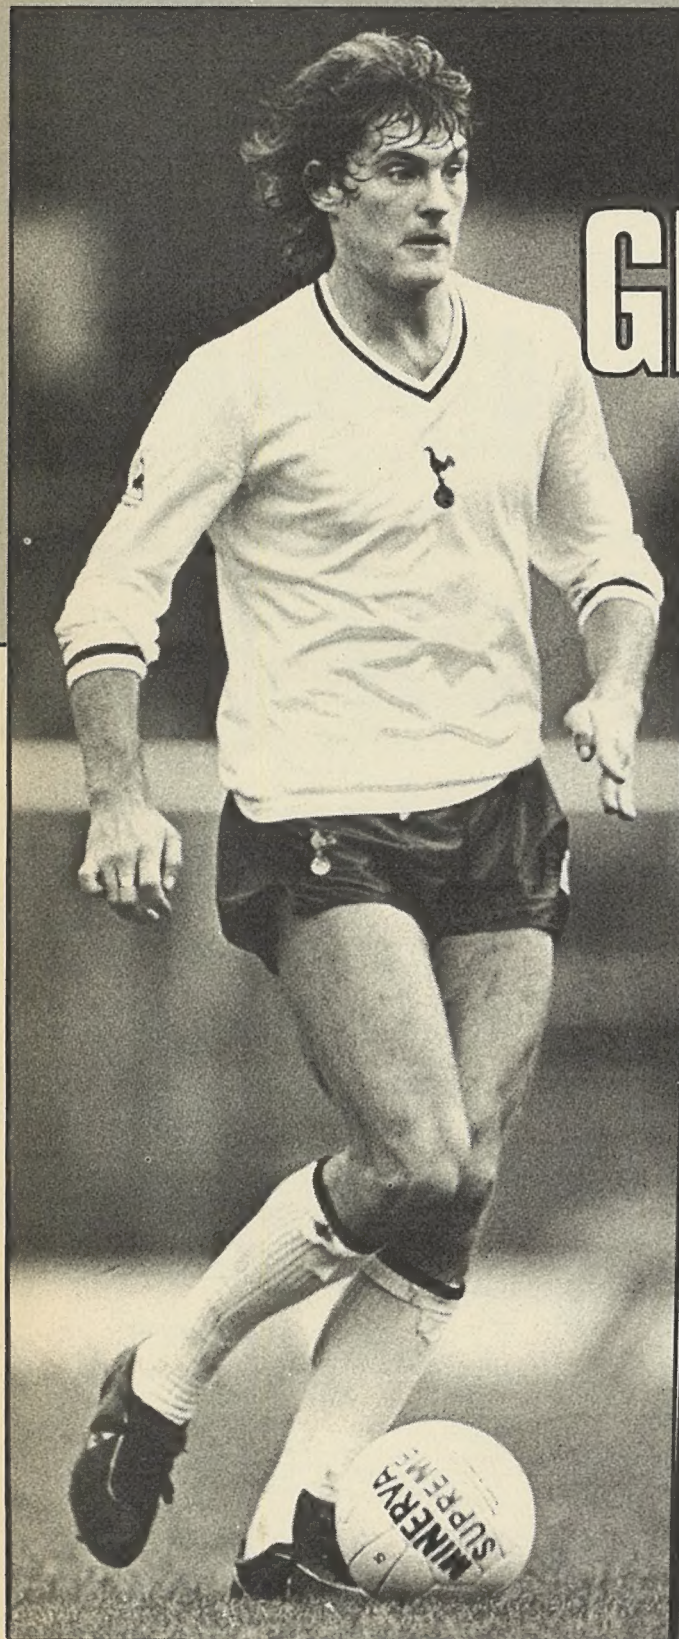

And the best way of countering the threat of Steve Archibald and Garth Crooks up front is to limit the service they get as much as possible.

But the young lads at the back have been doing well for us this season — Nicky Reid especially has come on leaps and bounds and he must be heading for international honours.

From a personal point of view my only previous experience of playing at Wembley was when I came on as substitute for Scotland against England when we got beat 5-1... I'll be looking for happier memories on Saturday.

Tommy Hutchison

LUCKY DAY!

Spurs magic can work like a charm says 'Match
Weekly' columnist

GLENN HODDLE

SPURS and ENGLAND

6 A BROKEN piece of jewellery may be the key to a Spurs victory on Saturday . . .

Before our semi-final with Wolves, my wife's grandmother sent a necklace as a lucky charm.

It got broken in the post and finished up in about three pieces and I thought 'so much for that bringing us luck!'

Whether or not it still worked some magic I don't know, but we went on to beat Wolves in a replay and even though my wife, Anne, won't be able to wear it at Wembley she'll make sure she has it with her up in the stands.

It's all part of the magic of the FA Cup Final.

There's so much more to take in and enjoy apart from the 90 minutes on the pitch.

There's the build-up the week before . . . the coach ride to the stadium . . . the atmosphere inside . . . and hopefully the celebrations to follow . . . not forgetting, of course, the lucky charms!

Our serious build-up to the game will have begun on the Thursday before when we headed for our Wembley retreat.

As was the case for the semi-final it was left pretty much up to the players themselves what they wanted to do . . . either go away on the Friday night as we do for a usual League match or spend a bit more time away from it all.

In the end we plumped for a couple of days 'away'.

After training on Friday we planned to go along to Wembley and have a look at the pitch and the surroundings in readiness for the big day.

It will be all so different at 3 o'clock on Saturday, of course, when the stadium is packed with fans.

I suppose no-one quite knows how the 'final fever' will affect them on the day and like so many players on duty on Saturday it will be my first Wembley final.

My only previous first hand experience of a final atmosphere — and that was a League Cup final — was years ago when I went along to watch Spurs as a 12-year-old fan!

I've played for England at Wembley on two occasions, but a Cup Final will be something new with fifty per cent of the fans cheering for the other side!

Whatever happens it should be a good game, because the first thing to hit you is that neither side has a big fella' up front.

Like us they play more balls on the deck and there should be plenty of passing movements.

At the same time that's why I think the important battle will be in midfield.

Wembley is a big pitch which will suit players like Ossie Ardiles, Ricky Villa and Tony Galvin who is a very powerful runner.

City's Paul Power makes some tremendous runs, too, of course, but I think the man who pulls the strings for them in midfield now is Gerry Gow, who as well as being a good ball winner is a good passer of the ball too.

As for Tommy Hutchison he can be brilliant or he can have an off-day and I think it's important we don't let him settle in the first 20 minutes.

Up front for City, Kevin Reeves is their key man. He seems to have turned the corner now and is playing well again. Kevin's always going to be dangerous around the box.

On paper it could be a high scoring game because we have a good attacking side — we've scored 80-odd goals this season — and City have a good side going forward.

I just hope we play as we know Spurs can play . . . but at the end of the day I won't mind if we win 1-0 and Miliša Aleksić scores the goal! 9

My Wembley

verdict

by Match Weekly
columnist

KEVIN KEEGAN

SPURS are not good enough to win the First Division. They lack consistency.

And Manchester City have still to prove they have become a really good side. Next season will tell us that.

Both teams have their weaknesses. And that is why I believe this could be a really great final.

There will be plenty of goals — I'm sure of that.

You have only to look at the 'goals against' columns in the First Division table to see both sides have problems at the back.

After 40 games Spurs had conceded 63 goals and City had seen 57 go past them. So it could turn out to be a real shoot-out, with both sides creating lots of chances.

Spurs fans, no doubt, will be looking to the 'goals for' column with some satisfaction.

Their side had notched 68 goals after 40 League games and there is no doubt that Spurs have more potential matchwinners in players like Crooks, Archibald and Ardiles than do City.

Regular readers of my Match Weekly column will know that I am a fan of the Spurs' style of play.

Like Southampton, they go forward.

They are the kind of team I believe should get to cup finals.

There are two teams that you would pick to go and watch at the moment — Spurs and Ipswich.

On the other hand, City are the in-form team.

With Tommy Hutchison, Bobby McDonald and Gerry Gow in the side, they seem to have found a pattern of play that was missing under Malcolm Allison.

Big Joe Corrigan is a giant in more ways than one in the City goal — and that may give the Northerners an edge.

Injuries have given Spurs goalkeeping problems this season and Aleksic has not had long to settle back in after getting back to fitness.

The two managers are as different as their teams.

I played with Keith Burkinshaw when he was player manager at Scunthorpe and found him a terrific fella'.

It's no surprise to me that he has done so well since then. He just gets quietly on with the job. I'm delighted to see him at Wembley.

John Bond, on the other hand, is one of the game's real characters.

Whether you like him or not the fact is that he has taken City from obscurity to safety in the First Division, as well as reaching the semi-final of the League Cup and final of the FA Cup.

He has done something to Paul Power that has turned him from a good solid team player into an inspiring leader.

But the person I feel most pleased for is City chairman Peter Swales. He has always tried to back his managers with money and has given them a fair chance.

Now, after years of watching his team struggle in the wilderness, he can enjoy seeing them at Wembley.

And after Saturday I believe he will be able to take the FA Cup back to Maine Road.

For though many of my First Division colleagues go for Spurs to win, I'm predicting a 3-2 win for City.

Your exclusive guide to the final

City must stop Spurs strike force

MANCHESTER City's hopes of winning the FA Cup for the fifth time could well hinge on whether young central defenders Nicky Reid and Tommy Caton can contain the lethal strike force of Steve Archibald and Garth Crooks.

Reid and Caton did an effective job in their semi-final victory over Ipswich and their marks in the run-up to Wembley show they have the edge over their Tottenham counterparts Graham Roberts and Paul Miller.

The marks alongside each player are averages of the ratings they have received in all their FA Cup ties this season.

And they show that in every other department Tottenham are the stronger, particularly, in midfield where England's Glenn Huddle received the star rating in five of their seven ties.

It's in this vital area where most of the fascinating clashes should occur with the skills of Huddle and Tommy Hutchison, the power of Ricky Villa and Gerry Gow, the guile of Osvaldo Ardiles and Steve Mackenzie and the running of Tony Galvin and Paul Power.

The two tables above show how we arrived at our average ratings — giving you each individual mark awarded to the players on the road to Wembley.

Spurs meet Manchester City in Saturday's FA Cup Final — but how did they get there?
In this super colour feature MATCH WEEKLY re-lives the Golden Goals which earned them their place in this centenary Final — with the players who scored them.

THOS

The goals that

by Paul Power (Man City)

"IT WAS a tremendous feeling scoring the goal that beat Ipswich in the FA Cup Semi-Final at Villa Park and guaranteed City's place in the Wembley show piece.

"Terry Butcher and Dave Bennett tangled on the edge of the Ipswich area and the referee gave us the free-kick about 10 minutes into extra-time.

"It was ideally placed for a left-footed player — on the right hand edge of the box — and when Steve Mackenzie stood over the ball and touched it to me I knew it would hit the target as soon as it left my foot."

THE GOLDEN GOALS

took us to Wembley

by Garth Crooks (Spurs)

"OF THE two goals I scored in the 3-0 semi-final replay win over Wolves at Highbury, I think the second one gave me most pleasure.

"Glenn Hoddle put me clear with a great ball. I didn't panic, kept my composure and stuck it in the net. It was a real killer blow for Wolves coming on the stroke of half-time.

"Glenn was also involved in my first goal, lobbing it over George Berry's head and as it bounced I managed to nod it over the keeper."

by Ricky Villa (Spurs)

"I GOT the ball on the right, got past one player and shot. As soon as the ball is going towards the goal, I feel it is there — a great feeling.

"Even for a player from Argentina it is the dream to play at Wembley because it is the home of football. It will be great for me."

That Final feeling

by Pat Jennings

ARSENAL 'keeper Pat Jennings — veteran of four Wembley finals — admits his most memorable cup win was with Spurs.

The Northern Ireland international is the only member of Spurs' last FA Cup winning side still playing League football.

And even though he's since collected a winner's medal with the Gunners he says: "The first time was definitely the best."

That was in 1967 when Spurs beat London rivals Chelsea 2-1 with a team that included household names like Jimmy Greaves and Terry Venables.

"I was only 20 years-old at the time so the occasion made a big impression on me.

"We made hard work of our victory, but we were the only team in it on the day," added Pat, who made 472 League appearances for Tottenham before moving to Highbury.

Although the final was 14 years ago, Pat remembers vividly how Bobby Tambling beat him to give Chelsea the equaliser.

"The ball came short from a corner. I went for it but Bobby got there first and nicked it over the top of me," says Pat.

As for this year's final the giant goalkeeper wishes his old team luck: "It's good to see them getting some success — they've been starved of it in recent years.

"On their day Spurs can beat anybody, but they're inclined to give away soft goals."

● Pat won't be at Wembley cheering on his old team — he'll be thousands of miles away in Hong Kong on tour with Arsenal.

CUP FINAL '81

TWO STARS RECALL THEIR WEMBLEY MEMORIES

FOR Tommy Booth, Saturday will be his fourth Wembley final.

"But the place won't have lost any of its magic for me," says the only survivor of Manchester City's last FA Cup final appearance in 1969.

"I don't remember a great deal about that first time there, when we beat Leicester 1-0, only that the day seemed to pass me by so quickly.

"Just as I was a youngster then, some of the lads in the present side have asked me what it's like and all I can recall is being in the bottom of that tunnel, then walking up slowly into the bowl.

"That's when the atmosphere hits you and you suddenly feel heavy legged. It's electric and if you can, a moment to savour."

Tommy was also in the City sides which won the League Cup at Wembley against West Brom and Newcastle in 1970 and 1976, and lost to Wolves by the same 2-1 scoreline in 1974 and recalls:

"They were great occasions but they can't quite compare with the FA Cup final."

In fact that 1969 side including Colin Bell, Francis Lee, Mike Summerbee, Mick Doyle and skipper Tony Book, will be turning out at Maine Road on Tuesday, May 12, for Tommy's testimonial match against City's 1981 Cup final side.

"We shall have to see which side the gaffer picks for Wembley, before I know what

by Tommy Booth

side I'm playing in on Tuesday," quipped Tommy.

As for Wembley, the six-foot-two-inch central defender says: "It's bound to be a duel in midfield.

"They are strong and we shall have to stifle them — I'm confident we can."

The man in the middle

SHEFFIELD referee Keith Hackett will be going back to Wembley on Saturday for his second FA Cup Final.

He was senior linesman for the Arsenal-Man Utd game in 1979 and has also refereed two League Cup semi-finals. He is married with two sons and works as a sales manager.

His linesmen will be David Hutchinson of Harrogate and Alan Jones of Warrall, Cheshire.

WORLD CUP

'82 Scrapbook

Hungary shock for England

A BIG shock for England came with Spain's 3-0 home defeat by Hungary. Spain fielded much the same side that had comfortably beaten England at Wembley, while Hungary were without the gifted striker Andreas Torosik.

And the ease of their win must spell doubts about England's ability to overcome them in the World Cup qualifying games later this year.

However, Hungary only managed a 2-2 draw with Switzerland in a World Cup qualifier in Lucerne last month.

ANTON Ondrus, the giant Czechoslovakian defender, is at the heart of an international mystery.

He has apparently quit because of a stomach muscle injury, although sources say that he is more likely upset by a Czech FA decision not to allow him to go abroad after last year's European Championships.

DIEGO Maradona, the brilliant little Argentine international, has been voted South American 'Footballer of the Year' for the second successive year.

Second was Brazil's Zico and third Victorino of Uruguay.

FORMER Dutch World Cup star Ari Haan, whose power shooting was one of the highlights of the 1978 World Cup, is back in business in a big way.

As one of six, yes six, midfield men on duty in the Anderlecht side, he has just helped his Belgian club to their first championship win since 1974.

And he did it in style, celebrating the success with a typical goal in the team's 8-2 win against Beerschot.

REAL Madrid and England winger Laurie Cunningham is keen to stay in Spain.

At least that's the impression the 25-year-old former West Brom player has given in recent interviews to the Spanish press.

In one report he says: "I have had a chat with the manager and from now on I hope things will be better, as soon as I recover from my operation.

"I am very happy in Spain. I really want to win things with Real Madrid because they paid a lot for me."

Below: "West Ham's Frank Lampard is a very loyal player," says Michael Purnell, of Huntingdon, Cambridgeshire.

Eugene Prunty (13) of Bolton, Greater Manchester, is so impressed by Liverpool's all-round team performance that he drew this selection of players.

"Joe Jordan of Manchester United is one of the greatest number nine's in football," says Joanne Mann of Chiswick, London.

Phil takes a back seat at Wembley

WHEN the famous Wembley roar greets Manchester City on Saturday spare a thought for their unlucky striker Phil Boyer.

Thirty-one-year-old Phil will be watching from the stands after tearing ligaments in his knee during City's 6-0 destruction of Norwich in the fourth round.

Phil, who was injured in a clash with City manager John Bond's son, Kevin (now with Seattle Sounders) will be out until the beginning of next season.

A £220,000 November signing from Southampton, Phil played an important part in helping City to the League Cup semi-final and struck up an effective striking partnership with Kevin Reeves.

But since the injury he's had to take a back seat as City have powered their way to Wembley for the first time since 1976.

Phil Boyer — Manchester City's injured star.

Wembley winners . . .

SPURS go into Saturday's match against Manchester City confident in the knowledge that they've never lost an FA Cup Final. The club has played five and won five at Wembley.

. . . and a Wembley loser

SPURS goalkeeper Milija Aleksic knows all about Wembley's unique cup atmosphere — he's played there on a losing side!

That was in 1976 when he played on the losing Stafford Rangers side in the FA Challenge Trophy Final against Scarborough.

Now the former Plymouth player is determined to go back to the famous stadium and pick up a winner's medal.

Hat-trick feats

WHAT could be sweeter than hitting a hat-trick against your former club?

The following six have all achieved the feat in the last couple of years:
 Peter Noble (for Burnley), v Newcastle, Derek Hales (Charlton) v Luton, Dave Gwyther (Rotherham) v Swansea, Mike Flanagan (Charlton) v Spurs, David Kemp (Plymouth) v Carlisle and Phil Boyer (Southampton) v Derby.

Goals all the way for City

MAN CITY are the FA Cup goal kings. They hold the record for scoring the most Cup goals in a season.

In the 1925-26 season they hit the net an amazing 31 times in just seven matches!

But they still didn't win the coveted trophy.

They beat Corinthians 4-0 after drawing 3-3, Huddersfield 4-0, Crystal Palace 1-1, Clapton Orient 6-1, Manchester United 3-0 and then lost in the final 1-0 to Bolton.

By comparison last year's cup winners West Ham scored 13 goals from their eight games, while runners-up Arsenal could only muster the same score from 11 matches.

Stop Hoddle!

BEWARE of Hoddle! That's the message Manchester City manager John Bond should be drumming into his players on the eve of the FA Cup Final.

For the Spurs and England hot-shot has scored against City in each of their last four meetings.

Despite that, City have won three of their last six games against the Londoners.

Since Spurs were promoted to the First Division in 1977-78 the results between the two teams have been:

1978-79: City 2 (Owen, R Futchter) Spurs 0; Spurs 0 City 3 (Kidd, Barnes, Channon). 1979-80: Spurs 2 (Jones, Hoddle) City 1 (Mackenzie); City 1 (Robinson) Spurs 1 (Hoddle). 1980-81 City 3 (Reeves, Daly, Mackenzie) Spurs 1 (Hoddle); Spurs 2 (Hoddle, Archibald) City 1 (Boyer).

Four of a kind

GERRY Armstrong (Watford), Peter Foley (Oxford), Brian Pollard (Mansfield) and Steve Craven (Tranmere) all have one thing in common.

When each of them reached the three-goal total this season they had scored in each competition — the League, the League Cup and the FA Cup.

Pine fresh — that's Miller and Brooke

A BREATH of fresh Scandinavian air has worked wonders for Spurs pair Paul Miller and Garry Brooke.

For both players have returned from spells in Fjord country and established themselves in the first team.

Defender Paul spent eight months in Norway, while Garry returned from Sweden in October and made his debut soon afterwards.

Villa Park omen

VILLA PARK spells success for FA Cup finalists Manchester City.

The last two times Manchester City have reached Wembley by playing their semi-final at Villa Park they've gone on to win the cup.

They did it in 1969 when they beat Everton 1-0 and 1956 when they knocked out none other than SPURS by the same score.

Watford's Gerry Armstrong — notched up an unusual scoring feat.

Spare a thought...

For two men who nearly made it to Wembley

WHILE all eyes will be on Manchester City and Spurs at three o'clock on Saturday, just spare a thought for the beaten semi-finalists.

'Match' spoke to Wolves goalkeeper Paul Bradshaw and Ipswich Town striker Alan Brazil to find out what they'll be doing on Cup Final day . . . and whether they will be able to bring themselves to watch the game.

CUP
FINAL

PAUL BRADSHAW(Wolves)

FOR WOLVES goalkeeper Paul Bradshaw the agony of the semi-final defeat by Tottenham will return when he switches on the television to watch the final.

"All the disappointment of the 3-0 replay defeat will no doubt come flooding back when I see Tottenham walk out at Wembley," says Paul.

"It took us a long time to get over the mental side of that defeat although our battle for much-needed points helped to take our minds off it a little.

"I know we had our taste of glory in the League Cup Final at Wembley last year, but there's nothing like the glamour of the FA Cup Final.

"And with this being the 100th final it's bound to be remembered for years to come and it would have been nice to have been involved in it.

"It is obviously one of the biggest days in a players' life . . . still we might get another chance sometime.

"So having been so near to the final it will be a little different watching it on television this time."

Although Tottenham were Wolves' conquerors, Paul fancies Manchester City to lift the trophy.

"There's not a lot to choose between the sides, but I think City have slightly more experience which could tell on the day.

"They have a few old heads in the side and I think they will exploit Tottenham's nervousness more than we did in the first meeting at Hillsborough."

ALAN BRAZIL(Ipswich)

'SICK' is the only way Ipswich striker Alan Brazil can describe what he will feel at kick off time on Saturday.

"Having been so close and yet so far away, it's going to be a sickening experience watching the final," says Alan.

"We all had high hopes of reaching the final and going on to win the Cup, but it all went wrong on the day.

"I missed a couple of early chances against Manchester City; we had Kevin Beattie injured and never played to our potential.

"It was knowing that we hadn't played well which sickened us the most. If we had played well we would have won.

"Some of the lads took it badly, myself included, but being involved in the UEFA Cup and League Championship race helped to sweeten the blow.

"And it also helped when we won at Aston Villa a few days after the defeat although we let ourselves down by losing at home to Arsenal the same week."

Scottish international Alan went north of the border to watch the Rangers v Celtic final last season, but this time he intends to watch the English FA Cup Final on television.

"I'm not bothered about going to Wembley unless I have a particular interest in a team. I like the comfort of an armchair," explains Alan.

"And I'm expecting Manchester City to take the trophy. Tottenham can be an entertaining side, but I think City's experience and discipline will win them the day."

Left: Ipswich's Scottish striker Alan Brazil.

ENGLAND CA

ENGLAND take on Brazil at Wembley next week looking to end a disastrous run of results against the three times World Cup winners.

This will be the twelfth meeting between the two countries, but England have managed just one victory to Brazil's six... and that was 25 years ago when they first clashed.

However, the South American side have never beaten England at Wembley and Ron Greenwood's men will be intent on keeping it that way.

Forget the fact that the match is only a friendly.

It's another precious chance for England to get it right as the World Cup finals loom closer.

And with Brazil already qualified for Spain in '82 as the outright winners of their group, the result will act as an important pointer to England's chances in those finals... assuming they qualify.

Left: Phil Neal: "The Brazilians are sure to provide a good test."

Liverpool and England right-back Phil Neal missed the last meeting with Brazil due to club commitments, but he played in the 0-0 1977 clash in Rio and he told Match Weekly:

"When England beat the Argentinians at Wembley in a friendly I felt proud to be British... and it will be the same if we beat Brazil.

"Every game England play is important and the Brazilians are sure to provide a good test.

"Everyone remembers the great Brazil sides and their almost unique scoring ability. Everyone looked to them to show how it was done.

"And their following

EASY FOR HAMMERS

'We expected a harder fight' confesses

BILLY BONDS

WEST HAM skipper Billy Bonds admits: "Winning the Second Division was easier than we thought."

The Hammers set an unbeatable pace at the top and were certain of promotion eight weeks before the end of the season.

"The standard wasn't very high — all the teams were pretty much the same. We expected a harder fight," said Billy.

"Although we're glad to be back in the top flight our three years in the Second Division did us no harm at all — we've had incredible success in cup competitions."

Indeed, as a cup fighting side West Ham's record compares with the best.

Last season Billy led them to FA Cup glory and the quarter finals of the League Cup.

This term they were beaten in the League Cup Final and knocked out of the European Cup-Winners' Cup in the quarter finals by crack Russian outfit Dinamo Tbilisi.

"We haven't really missed the First Division because we've been playing top class opposition in the cup competitions — and that's bound to help us next season."

"In fact I haven't been too impressed with the standard of the First Division."

"Apart from the top six there's not much to choose between the rest," added Billy.

"Our main aim will be to stay in the top flight and I reckon we've got a good enough squad to do that."

"We've been quite successful over the past few years so there should be money for manager John Lyall to spend on new players if he needs it."

"It's great to be back. I'm looking forward once more to playing at the Liverpool's and Manchester United's."

Left: Billy Bonds... back in the First Division with West Ham.

FINAL SCORE _____

'One's enough' — Bett

"I'm really looking forward to my first Hampden final. It should be a tremendous atmosphere.

"Dundee United are strong at the back with Hegarty and Narey, but I fancy Colin McAdam to cause them a few problems. It should be a real aerial battle.

"We will probably use our wingers Willie Johnston and Tommy McLean to get in behind them, but I can see the first goal being vital and probably being enough to settle it."

JIM BETT (RANGERS)

'I'm confident' — Bannon

"I quite like the idea of being underdogs, especially as it is being played in Glasgow. With so much Rangers support, there won't be so much pressure on us and we should pick up all the neutral fans, not to mention a few from Celtic who will be there!

"Rangers are not in such good form at the moment, so we'll be looking to Paul Sturrock and David Dodds to do some damage.

"It's a good pitch at Hampden and that should suit our style. I'm very confident we can add the FA Cup to the League Cup we already hold."

Colin McAdam... 'The big fella can cause Hegarty some problems'.

RANGERS FOR ME'

says Celtic's
TOM McADAM

RANGERS for the Cup! That's the verdict of Tom McAdam, who has just helped Celtic to their 32nd Scottish championship. Match Weekly asked Tom for his exclusive view of Saturday's Hampden Final between Rangers and Dundee United because he has a keen interest in both sides as a former United player — signed by Celtic in 1977 — and brother of Rangers striker Colin McAdam. "We beat United to clinch the championship last week but they did well against us and Sturrock and Milne can certainly cause Rangers some problems. "However, I'll be sitting with Dad in the stands, so I'll have to support my brother. And I fancy him to score a goal as the more experienced Rangers finish 2-1 winners." Now read Tom's player-by-player guide as he analyses the two teams...

Dundee United

and Addison for who plays." DEREK ADDISON (right midfield)

"Hard player, likes to tackle — a good ball winner."

IAIN PHILLIP (right midfield)

"Played well in the semi-final win over us. Likes to get his tackles in and control midfield."

WILLIE PETTIGREW (striker)

"Almost certainly a sub this time. But he's still sharp and given a chance, the occasion could lift him."

PAUL STURROCK (striker)

"Hard to pin down. Runs across defences and an exciting player who has scored over 20 goals."

DAVID DODDS (striker)

"Tall, good in the air, sneaks in at the back post. United's top scorer and a real dangerman."

RALPH MILNE (winger)

"Stocky, pacey and sharp. Dangerous when he comes in off the right to crack them with his left."

DEREK STARK (defender)

"United's utility player. If injuries at the back he's the likely replacement."

Rangers

midfield)

"If United let him play, could be a key figure. Very skilful but look for Iain Phillip to try to mark him out of the game."

TOMMY McLEAN (right midfield)

"Experienced campaigner, tricky on the ball and so accurate with free-kicks."

IAN REDFORD (striker)

"Left-footed with a good shot. Sniffs out chances, especially from Johnston's crosses."

WILLIE JOHNSTON (winger)

"Pacey and cheeky, likes to play wide on the left and taunt full-backs."

COLIN McADAM (striker)

"His first final and he's looking forward to worrying Hegarty. Not been getting too good a service lately but could be a key player in the air."

SANDY JARDINE (full back)

"Experienced, fast and a hard man to get past. Out of favour but likely to be on the bench."

JOHN MacDONALD (striker)

"Quick, always on the spot and a good finisher. Likely to be substitute."

HAMISH McALPINE (goalkeeper)

"United must be the only side not to need a reserve keeper. Hamish is always there. Can be brilliant, but has his daft moments."

JOHN HOLT (right back)

"How he deals with wee Willie Johnston could be vital. He's hard with two good feet."

FRANK KOPEL (left back)

"Frankie's been around a long time and does his job well. Interesting duel against McLean."

PAUL HEGARTY (central defender)

"Usually gets the better of smaller strikers with his aerial power. But my brother could give him a hard time."

DAVID NAREY (sweeper)

"Classy and United's best player. Reads the game so well and uses the ball well, too. Will be looking to curb Redford danger."

"Takes defenders on with strong left-wing and central runs and can cause problems with crosses. Free-kick specialist."

BILLY KIRKWOOD (right midfield)

"Strong runner, with a good shot. Toss up between him pieces. Hard but always fair and scores important goals."

TOM FORSYTH (central defender)

"Powerful man, likes to frighten forwards with a good, hard, early tackle."

DEREK JOHNSTONE (central defender/striker)

"Between him and Forsyth for defensive place. Great experience of finals, good in the air and coming back to form."

"Off form recently, but Final should bring out the best in him. Works hard and packs a good shot."

BOBBY RUSSELL (central

JIM STEWART (goalkeeper)

"Good signing from Middlesbrough, certainly strengthened the side at the back."

ALEX MILLER (right back)

"Strong, hard tackler; experienced but not flashy; a great competitor."

ALLY DAWSON (left back)

"Solid tackler, good distribution... earned his Scottish squad call-up recently. Likely to be captain if Johnston doesn't play."

COLIN JACKSON (central defender)

"Coming to the end of his career, but still great in the air, always dangerous at set

IT'S FUN TIME

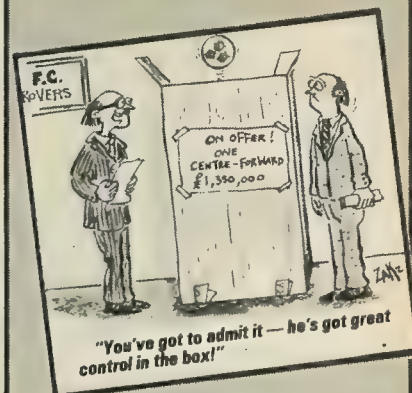

DID you hear about the Hereford United goalie who let in 40 goals in his first match?
He was so upset he jumped in front of a bus... and the bus went through his legs!

Matthew Preece (13), Hereford.

ONE IRISHMAN to another: "Are you going to the Liverpool-Everton game?"

Other: "No — I'm off to London to watch Spurs play Tottenham Hotspur!"

GLENN HODDLE

ON THE EVE of the big Wembley game, Match brings you pictures of the Spurs and England midfield star as you've never seen him before.

Photographer DUNCAN CUBITT visited Glenn's Hertfordshire home to give you a glimpse of his private world — away from the hustle and bustle of FA Cup soccer.

BELOW (left): Glenn poses with some of his most prized soccer possessions — the 'Young Player of the Year' award he won in 1979, the England cap he was awarded against Wales last year and the match ball from Spurs' League game against Coventry at White Hart Lane last season when Glenn scored a hat-trick as his side won 4-3.

CUP
FINAL '81

RIGHT: Glenn swings into action with the little ball. Like many of the top stars of our game he enjoys a relaxing game of golf.

TOP (right): Steve Davis watch out! Glenn's right on cue as he puts in some snooker practice in the spare room.

BOTTOM (right): A little less energetic, but just as enjoyable as Glenn wages a tactical battle on the chess board with his wife Anne.

Wembley greats

OUR popular 'Past Greats' feature has a Cup Final look about it this week with readers picking former players of finalists Manchester City and Spurs.

Graham Saunders (12) of Locks Heath, Southampton, selects this team of former Man. City players.

Ron Healey (Cardiff), Kenny Clements, Ged Keegan, Paul Fitcher (all Oldham), Dave Watson (Southampton), Gary Owen (West Brom.), Asa Hartford (Everton), Mike Robinson (Brighton), Joe Royle (Norwich), Mike Channon (Southampton), Peter Barnes (West Brom.).

Jacqueline Hogan of Monkstown, Dunlaughtaire, Ireland, picks this team of former Spurs players.

O'Neill has class

MARTIN O'Neill has proved to be Ken Brown's best buy of the season for Norwich.

His inspiration in midfield has been one of the major factors behind the Norfolk club's sprint out of the relegation zone.

His determination and class are just what Norwich needed and he's filled the team with confidence.

No wonder he's captain of his country, Northern Ireland.

Nicholas Bungay (12), Swaffham, Norfolk.

The charm of the Cup

FROM Blyth to Burnley, Yeovil to York, and Altrincham to Arsenal — that's the charm of the FA Cup.

There's not a sporting tournament to equal it — that's proved by the millions who watch it every season.

We get shocks and thrills all along the way and the Final itself is always a day to remember.

John McNeill, Jarrow, Tyne and Wear

TERRACE TALK

Former Manchester City star Gary Owen (West Brom) is included in our Cup Final special 'Past Greats' line-up.

What YOU say about the Cup Final . . .

IT'S Cup week — and Terrace Talk turns the spotlight on the two finalists Manchester City and Spurs.

Here's just a sample of the letters we've received on the FA Cup.

Spurs will attack

WHAT a triumph for attacking football that Spurs have reached the FA Cup Final.

With skilful and exciting players like Glenn Hoddle, Osvaldo Ardiles, Ricky Villa and Garth Crooks the final looks set to be an entertaining affair with a hatful of goals.

Let's hope that Manchester City don't go on the defensive and spoil what I reckon could be a boost for football.

Ian Parish (15), Edmonton, London.

Unlucky Wolves

SPURS had an unfair advantage when they met Wolves in the FA Cup semi-final at Highbury.

The ground is so close to White Hart Lane that the fans could easily get there, while it was a much more difficult journey for the Midlands supporters — and that was reflected in the number of Wolves fans there.

Spurs were very lucky and I hope the FA act quickly to stop giving such unfair advantages in future.

Dean Reynolds (13), Solihull, West Midlands.

Give managers a medal

IT'S a pity managers don't get an FA Cup Final winners' medal as well as the players.

Surely the managers, who have the responsibility and all the worry, deserve some recognition for their achievements on the great day.

The Football Association should modernise their ancient ideas and give the managers some tangible reminder of their success.

Scott Robertson (15), Edinburgh, Scotland.

I'M outraged at the way Ipswich Town play football.

I went to the Championship showdown at Villa Park and was angered by their tactics. Every time they got possession their players looked for Dutchmen Arnold Muhren and Frans Thijssen.

The pair then bored us by slowing the game down.

Villa play much more exciting football — and they don't need the help of foreign imports.

Nigel Hudson (14), Bournville, Birmingham
● TAKE an early bath. Muhren and Thijssen have livened up the English game this season. You're sent off because you don't appreciate class when you see it.

Outraged!

RIGHT you lot — I'm Anthony Hawkswell and I'm in charge of the 'Outraged' column.

I'll be sending off the writer of the most outrageous letter of the week and booking others that made me really angry.

If you dare, write to me at Outraged, Match Weekly, Midgate House, Midgate, Peterborough PE1 1UB.

Follow the Reds

TO bring back entertaining and attacking football the FA should take a leaf out of the Russians' book.

Over there, a team is allowed just eight draws in a season. After that they don't get any points for a draw.

This encourages a team to go out and win every game and not just play for a draw.

Chris Robinson (15), Chester-le-Street, Co. Durham

● NIET, Comrade! Over there I expect you get doomed to the salt mines if you lose eight games in a season. Let's give next season's new points system a chance.

Allison was right!

MALCOLM Allison was right — chairman Eric Swales runs Manchester City.

Conclusive proof was the fact that a newspaper reported that Swales was interested in signing Everton's Asa Hartford — I thought that was the manager's job!

The chairman is in charge of Maine Road — make no mistake!

Barry Renton, New Rossington, Doncaster, Yorks.

Reject Kendall is still rooting for Spurs

FORMER Spurs goalkeeper Mark Kendall wishes his old team-mates well for Saturday's FA Cup Final — even though his days at White Hart Lane ended on a sour note.

Mark, who made 40 first team appearances for Spurs before his £40,000 move to Third Division Newport County this season, said: "I'm really pleased for the players — it's time they had some success."

"I was on the edge of my seat listening to the replay on the radio — willing the lads to win."

"They're a great club with tremendous facilities and I reckon they've got the big game players who could sneak them a win over Manchester City," added Mark.

Mark's own days at Spurs ended in disappointment and rows with manager Keith Burkinshaw.

"I feel that it was partly the manager's fault I never got on there. He wasn't prepared to give youngsters an extended run in the team — he wanted instant success."

"I didn't help myself because I used to talk out of turn and say the wrong things, but now I feel I've learnt from my mistakes."

Mark played five first team games this season before he was dropped and eventually sent to his home town club, Newport, on loan.

"I'm happy to be here because what I need now is plenty of games under my belt — I wasn't getting that at Spurs."

"I'm still only 22 so I think I've got enough time to get back into the top grade and I'm confident I can make it again."

"You don't play 40 games for Spurs if you're no good."

'City attack too good', says 'old boy' Oakes

"MANCHESTER City are going to win the FA Cup," says Chester player-manager Alan Oakes.

That's not a surprising statement from the 38-year-old midfielder player who was part of City's golden years in the late sixties and early seventies.

In those heady days at Maine Road they lifted the Second and First Division titles, the League Cup, the European Cup Winners' Cup and the FA Cup.

And it was that 1969 Wembley FA Cup victory over Leicester that remains the highlight for Alan, whose career now spans 900 senior appearances.

"They were tremendous years at City, but the Cup Final has to be the greatest moment because of all the glamour," says Alan, who hopes to be playing again in the Third Division next season.

"I hope that they are now on the threshold of getting some more success at the club. I think they will win the Cup because their forwards will be too good for the Tottenham defence.

"And in skipper Paul Power, they have probably the best left-sided midfielder player in the country at the moment."

"I don't know where I shall be on Final day, but I shall be rooting for City."

From his own point of view Alan intends to keep playing as long as possible, but he has no immediate plans to reach the 1,000 game mark.

"To be quite honest my form has been a little wayward this season. I enjoy playing and I think some players retire too early, but I shall see how pre-season training goes before I make any decisions."

Alan Oakes — tipping his old team to win the cup.

'Glad to get out of reserves'

DAVID PRICE was ready to swap the glamour of Arsenal for regular football with lowly Peterborough United.

David, who joined Crystal Palace as part of the transfer deadline exchange deal which took Peter Nicholas to Highbury, played six games on loan for Posh in the 1974-75 season.

He was 18 at the time and struggling to gain a place in an Arsenal team which contained such household names as Alan Ball, Charlie George and Liam Brady.

So when manager Bertie Mee (now at Watford) offered him a chance of regular first team action at Peterborough, the youngster jumped at the chance.

"There were so many established stars at Highbury that I wasn't getting a look in so I was glad to get out of the reserves," said David.

Peterborough, then a Third Division outfit, were so impressed with the midfielder player they offered to buy him, but couldn't afford the £15,000 asking fee.

"I liked the place and was quite prepared to make the drop — I wanted regular first team football," he explained.

Any other move was put on ice soon after David returned to North London because he broke a leg and was out of action for nearly season and a half.

But he showed his guts and determination by fighting back to full fitness and gaining a regular place in the side up to last season.

"Peterborough was a very friendly club and their management pair of Noel Cantwell (now in America) and John Barnwell (Wolves) helped me tremendously.

"Being on loan was good for me because it gave me the experience of playing in front of a crowd, it helped my fitness and sharpness and gave me an incentive to train."

THE

Week One of a fascinating new series on the players who were once loaned out to lower division clubs and have since made it back to the big time... This week Liverpool's Howard Gayle and Palace's David Price.

LIVERPOOL's new discovery Howard Gayle breezed into a windswept White Hart Lane on his full League debut against FA Cup finalists Spurs and scored the goal which earned his side a point.

It capped an incredible week for the 22-year-old black striker, who three days earlier was pitched into Liverpool's European Cup semi-final second leg match against Bayern Munich.

With just 20 minutes of first team football behind him Howard must have thought he was there only for the ride as he sat on the subs bench in the giant Olympic Stadium.

And although Ian Rush and Jimmy Case were on the same bench, manager Bob Paisley decided to throw in Howard when international striker Kenny Dalglish hobbled off with an ankle injury.

A patched up Liverpool team drew 1-1 to record one of the most dramatic victories in

Gayle sweeps in their history and reach the European Cup Final... going through on the away goals rule.

Their injury problems weren't resolved in time for their League game against Spurs, so Bob Paisley kept faith in his new striker and Howard rewarded him by putting his team ahead.

"I enjoyed playing in the European Cup game — funnily enough I wasn't at all nervous," said Howard.

"Much of the credit must go to the rest of the team who helped me through the game," he added modestly.

But Howard could have still been wallowing in the Anfield shadows if it wasn't for Third Division Fulham.

Fed up with reserve team football he asked Bob Paisley if he could go out on loan to get experience of regular first team football.

Last season he played 14 games for the London team, who were fighting a losing battle against relegation to the Third Division.

"I asked the boss if I could go on loan because I didn't think my game was improving in the reserves. I wanted to taste the atmosphere of playing in front of a bigger crowd."

The change of scenery sharpened up his appetite for the game and Howard says: "I had a good time at Craven Cottage — they're a great bunch of lads."

As for the future the young striker knows he's got a tough task ahead to push himself into the first team reckoning.

"I've just got to keep plugging away in the reserves and hope my chance will come," he added.

Below: Liverpool's Howard Gayle (inset) and in action as he sneaks behind Tony Galvin to put Liverpool ahead against Spurs in his first full game for the European Cup finalists.
